THERE IS NO DEATH.

There is no death! The stars go down,
To rise upon some fairer shore,
And bright to heaven's jeweled crown,
They shine for evermore.

There is no death! The dust we tread
Shall change to summer showers
To golden grain, or mellow fruit,
Or rainbow tinted bowers.

There is no death! The leaves may fall;
The flowers may fade and pass away;
They only wait, through wintry hours,
The coming of the May.

There is no death! An angel form
Walks over the earth with silent tread;
He hears our best loved ones away,
And then we call them dead.

The bird-like voice whose joyous tones
Make glad this scene of sin and strife,
Sings now in everlasting song
Amid the tree of life.

Born in that undying life,
They leave us but to come again;
With joy we welcome them—the same,
Except in sin and pain.

And ever near us, though unseen,
The dear immortal spirits tread,
For all the boundless universe
Is life—there is no death.

THE BEST PROTECTION AGAINST THE HORRORS

of the small pox, was practiced in China at a very early period, and probably found its way to Europe by the same secret channels as those other arts whose footsteps are so difficult to trace.

Western Europe obtained it from the Turks, Lady Mary Wortley Montague having made the first experiment of its efficacy by inoculating her son while residing at Constantinople.

Like the modern Greeks, the Chinese of the present day, content with the legacy of the past, have ceased to invent; but without doubt they were once among the most ingenious and original of the inhabitants of the earth.

The Chinese have not gone back, and that is saying a great deal in their favor; but in respect to material progress, for ages they have made no advancement.

Four centuries ago they were in advance of Europe in everything that contributes to the comfort or luxury of civilized life; but what are they now? Authors of the compass, they creep from headland to headland in coasting voyages, never venturing to cross the ocean or to trust themselves for many days out of sight of the shore.

Discoverers of gunpowder, they supply the world with fire-crackers, while their soldiers fight with bows and arrows, wooden spears, and matchlocks. Inventors of printing, they have not yet advanced to the use of metal type and the power press, but continue to engrave each page on a block of wood and to print it off by the use of a brush.

Sufficiently versed in astronomy to calculate eclipses two thousand years before the Christian era, they remain to this hour in the fetters of judicial astrology; and among the earliest to make advances in chemical discovery, they are still under the full sway of alchemy and magic.

W. H. P. MARTIN, in Harper's Magazine for November.

THE CHINESE HAVE NOT GONE BACK, AND THAT IS SAYING A GREAT DEAL IN THEIR FAVOR; BUT IN RESPECT TO MATERIAL PROGRESS, FOR AGES THEY HAVE MADE NO ADVANCEMENT.

FOUR CENTURIES AGO THEY WERE IN ADVANCE OF EUROPE IN EVERYTHING THAT CONTRIBUTES TO THE COMFORT OR LUXURY OF CIVILIZED LIFE; BUT WHAT ARE THEY NOW? AUTHORS OF THE COMPASS, THEY CREEP FROM HEADLAND TO HEADLAND IN COASTING VOYAGES, NEVER VENTURING TO CROSS THE OCEAN OR TO TRUST THEMSELVES FOR MANY DAYS OUT OF SIGHT OF THE SHORE.

DISCOVERERS OF GUNPOWDER, THEY SUPPLY THE WORLD WITH FIRE-CRACKERS, WHILE THEIR SOLDIERS FIGHT WITH BOWS AND ARROWS, WOODEN SPEARS, AND MATCHLOCKS. INVENTORS OF PRINTING, THEY HAVE NOT YET ADVANCED TO THE USE OF METAL TYPE AND THE POWER PRESS, BUT CONTINUE TO ENGRAVE EACH PAGE ON A BLOCK OF WOOD AND TO PRINT IT OFF BY THE USE OF A BRUSH.

SUFFICIENTLY VERSED IN ASTRONOMY TO CALCULATE ECLIPSES TWO THOUSAND YEARS BEFORE THE CHRISTIAN ERA, THEY REMAIN TO THIS HOUR IN THE FETTERS OF JUDICIAL ASTROLOGY; AND AMONG THE EARLIEST TO MAKE ADVANCES IN CHEMICAL DISCOVERY, THEY ARE STILL UNDER THE FULL SWAY OF ALCHEMY AND MAGIC.

NEW COLLEGIATE BRANCH.

Gen. Robert E. Lee, the great admired of unadulterated democrats of the rebel class, and generalissimo of the confederate armies during the rebellion, is now president of a college somewhere in Virginia. It is related in the papers that he proposes to inaugurate a new branch of study in his college—that of preparing students to occupy the positions as journalists—first class, of course. It may be a pleasant thing to contemplate, but certainly the practical part must ever remain in the realms of speculation, scarcely even reaching the borders of hope for its successful realization.

What sort of editors will these college chaps make, who know nothing but the theories advanced by their tutors, none of whom may be practical men in the business?

There are in this country men known as journalists and editors, who may have the advantage of college teachings in many branches of human knowledge, but the great practical training the best of them have received was in that school which can boast of a Franklin as one of its shining lights—the country or city printing office.

During Franklin's apprenticeship and long afterward, novitiates in the art of printing were put through the primary departments of the trade, such as keeping everything in its place, scraping ink balls, beating forms, carrying papers, and all the other similar work about a printing office. In these days a boy, to know his trade, must be set at the dark and miniverting work of washing rollers, trained to keep them in order, and a great many other little matters of importance. This is the initiatory degree; and as the learner advances he receives new degrees of knowledge in the art, and if he possesses the natural qualifications, by the experience and observation of a few years he will be prepared for the duties of a practical journalist.

The attentive apprentice and observant journeyman will have passed through a college, when he graduates for business, which trains his hand and his mind almost to fill the difficult and responsible position of a successful editor and journalist. And although he may never have been graduated at college, and has no diploma with Latin, or Greek, or Hebrew mixed in its contents, he has another qualification which makes him a practical man. In comparison to one thus prepared for this phase of public life, how would one of Gen. Lee's theorists stand? He would be nowhere. As well educate men for painters or poets, as for journalists. They must have the elements, the genius within them; and add to these the thorough teachings of a well regulated printing office, then practice will develop them so as to fill the station for which they have thus been educated.

Occasionally a good man may turn up who may be a successful editor, and not a printer, but such are exceptions to the general rule. But when they attempt to manufacture men for this profession by merely putting them through college, it won't take half a century to show that the plan is a mistake. The familiar story of the man who sent his stupid son to school to make a man of talent will apply here.

The teacher could do nothing with the dolt—he lacked capacity for acquiring knowledge, and the parent was informed of the fact. "He lacks capacity," inquired the old gentleman, "then I'll buy him one, cost what it may." Gen. Lee will find that the mass of his pupils will lack capacity for journalism, and it is scarcely probable that their parents or guardians can purchase and give to them the desired article. It is not a marketable commodity.

NOTARIES.—There are a great many excellent men in this country who hold the office of notary public, a very useful functionary in the manifold phases of business. To all truly worthy persons who hold commissions for this office it will not be offensive to announce that one of their number is a negro recently appointed, and who officiates at Chicago as notary public. Certainly the white officials of this class can stand this innovation, when they know that there are black preachers who marry folks, black printers who make books and newspapers, and not a few other positions in society are similarly characterized by officials of African extraction.

THE EVIL AT WORK.

It has been less than a year since the highest office in the gift of the people of this country was held by a man who got drunk, not only once but often, and thus brought disgrace to himself and humiliation to the nation. If we may credit unmistakable intimations in the papers our country has not been singular in this respect. No less than three among the distinguished rulers of Europe are reported as far on the way to drunkard's graves—the emperors of France and Russia, and B

CONGRESS is expected to come together in a few days, first Monday in December.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES were the order of the day in many places east and west, north and south, on the 18th inst. The duties of different cities contain a great many rods in length of of discourses by the clergy, in which they indulged in a free discussion of numerous public questions. Very properly not a few of them reproved, in words of becoming severity, the great disposition manifested for gambling in stocks of various kinds. It is a sin which needs to be scorched with the most withering rebuke—that of covetousness. The terrible, and in many cases, fatal consequences of the great gold gambling operations of the Wall street speculators, in September, should be a warning to all violators of the wholesome commandment, "Thou shalt not covet." Such a general expression of rebuke should have a salutary influence in restraining the wild speculations so characteristic of our times; but if those who thus indulge in the gambling propensity will not repent in consequence of words of exhortation and warning, they may heed when severer judgments come upon them, so as to deprive them of their ill-gotten possessions, or may be impel them to financial or self-destruction.

ALABAMA has ratified the fifteenth amendment, making twenty-three states. But five more are required, and they will come along in due time. Tennessee has rejected the amendment in one branch, and probably will do so in the other branch of the legislature.

THE STORM a few days since was very destructive in some parts of the country, as the wind moved with the velocity of a hurricane, tearing houses to pieces, wrecking vessels at sea, and doing much mischief generally, even to the taking of life. One of the walls of a large unfinished building, at Akron, was partly blown down, and falling on two houses crushed them to the ground. Fortunately nobody was injured, though one or two persons narrowly escaped.

THE NINETEENTH CENTURY.—That grand and glorious proclamation of President Lincoln, issued in September, 1862, which brought about emancipation to four millions of slaves on the first day of January, 1863, forms one of the grandest epochs that has marked the history of our country since it took its place in the family of nations—July 4, 1776. We notice that the colored people in some places already talk of celebrating the seventh anniversary of that great event in a becoming manner on the first of January next. This is as it should be. Although our country professed to be the land of the free and the home of the brave for eighty-seven years—seven-eighths of a century—yet in many of the states it was the scene of oppression to millions of slaves, whose sufferings and unpaid toil rose to heaven in a voice which was answered in retribution and vengeance in the uncounted wrongs inflicted on three generations of down-trodden slaves. That war, inspired by slavery in order to make perpetual the power of the oppressor, ultimately in ruin and desolation to the material prosperity of thousands of tyrants who had stolen and robbed their innocent and helpless victims of all their labor, themselves, their families and friends for two centuries. Terrible and fearful did the hand of vengeance wreak its force and expend its power by the conquering armies of freedom who shook the land with their tread, as they marched from victory to victory.

Most appropriate, then, is it that the colored people of America should celebrate their emancipation from a thrall of oppression, disgraceful alike, to the age in which we live, the profession of liberty we make, and the Christianity our people profess. Let them rejoice and give expression to their feelings of thankfulness for the millions of shackles broken, and the emphatic voice which pronounces them equal before the law of the land. Emancipation has come—emancipation is sure to follow.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE CAUSE.—A national assemblage of delegates, who favor the idea of equal political rights for woman is appointed by the proper authority to take place to-day at Cleveland. It is expected that some of the most distinguished women of the country will be present and take a leading part in the proceedings of the convention. In the call we notice the names of Mrs. Childs, Julia Ward Howe, Abby K. Foster, Mrs. Stanton, Lucia Mott, Frances D. Gage, Lucy Stone, Antoinette Brown Blackwell, and a great many others well known to the public as leaders in this reform.

WHEREAS, God in His infinite wisdom has removed from our midst, by death, our beloved comrade JOHN CRUICKER, Therefore,

Resolved, That we deeply feel the loss of an honored comrade and a brave soldier in the field in the time of our country's peril.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with the bereaved family of the deceased, in this, their time of sorrow, in the loss of a dear husband and fond father.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the family of the deceased, and a copy to each of the Massillon papers for publication. Attest:—H. HUBER, P. A. G. W. EARL, P. C. Post 45.

MR. EDITOR:—The times are really alarming! A glaring case of "lynch law" was perpetrated in this city, at the residence of Hon. George Harsh, one of our oldest and most respected citizens, on the evening of Nov. 22d, during a meeting of the Dime Society of the M. E. Church. When all was peaceful and quiet, a stern looking ecclesiastic entered, and with the suddenness of a perfect surprise decapitated the unoffending society, revealing what had been seriously suspected for months—that notwithstanding the president (of the Dime Society) loved her home, her infant class in the Sunday School, and the Dime Society, ardently, she loved Charlie Moore, who ran away with his head.

THE SEASON.
Summer's gone and over!
Pogs are falling down,
And with russet tinges
Autumn's doing brown.

Boughs are daily rife,
By the gusty thieves,
And the book of Nature
Catches short of leaves.

Round the tops of hotches
Swallows as they flit
Give, like yearly tenants,
Notices to quit.

Skies of fickle temper,
Weep by turns, and laugh
Night and day together
Talking half-and-half.

So October endeth—
Cold and most perverse—
But the month that follows
Sure will pinch us worse.

OLD TREES.
The oldest tree known by naturalists is the Great Dragon tree of Orotova, Teneriffe, which was blown down by a hurricane a few months since. It was a stately tree, seventy or eighty feet in height, as early as A. D. 1402, and so old and remarkable a tree as to excite particular care and notice for its preservation. When it was destroyed, it was believed to be no less than 5,000 years old. On the banks of the Senegal river in Africa, there are, or were in the year 1748, trees growing sixty or eighty feet in height, and some thirty feet in diameter, which are estimated by Adanson, the French naturalist to be over 5,000 years old. They are known as the Boabab or Adansonia. The English yew is another very long-lived tree.
There are a number of these trees in England and Scotland, which are supposed to be from 1,400 to 3,000 years old. A cypress tree in Oaxaca, Mexico, forty years ago measured one hundred and twenty feet in height, one hundred and seventeen feet in circumference, and which sheltered Fernando Cortes and his followers under its wide spreading boughs, about the year 1520, is supposed to be now about 4600 years old. And in California there are mammoth cypresses which stretch their heads up 300 or 400 feet, and which are supposed to be some 3000 years old. There are many other trees in different quarters of the world—single trees, famous in history, and groups of trees, as locusts, oaks, limes, elms, pines, nut-trees, etc., etc., which are either absolutely known or believed to be all along from 350, 440, 570, 720, 800, 900, 1000, and so on up to 3000 or more years old.

DEMOCRACY AND REPUTATION.
The democracy only here and there come out fairly and squarely for reputation, though the greenback dodge, and the revocation of the bond contract, mean repudiation and nothing else. Brick Pomeroy, now of the New York Democrat, having more nerve, speaks out more plainly. He is a great admirer of repudiation,—its "a balm for every wound," and a "short cut" to get rid of a debt without payment. It is a magnificent expedient for rascals, whether individual or national. Hear him—

Repudiation means liberty to the masses.
Repudiation means freedom from the enormous taxes imposed by most infamous and accursed radical legislation.
Repudiation means the best remedy against tyranny and oppression.
Repudiation means opposition to official swindling of the people.
Repudiation means protection against a moneyed aristocracy, against government bonds and usurpations.
The people all know the so called war debt is a swindle. They know that it is a child of usurpation—begotten outside of the constitution, to carry on an unholy war against an unoffending and much wronged people or sovereign states.
What Brick Pomeroy's New York Democrat proclaims boldly, as democratic doctrine, the party hold to quietly, and clandestinely and cowardly espouse.

A remarkable discovery has just been made by a man at Grenoble, France, by which it is calculated that cemeteries and graveyards will become superfluous. At the decease of an individual the body is put into a liquid invented by a man of Grenoble, and in about five years the individual is turned into stone. The secret of the petrification is known only to the discoverer. But he goes further. He says that in a thousand years' time, if persons will only preserve their relatives and friends they will be able to build houses with them and thus live in residences surrounded by their ancestors.

Here is a funeral speech which a Paris paper assures us was actually pronounced at Montmartre, the other day, by a father at the grave of his son: 'Gentlemen,' said the father, in a voice full of emotion, 'the body before me was that of my son. He was a young man in the prime of life, with a sound constitution, which ought to have insured him a hundred years. But misconduct, drunkenness and debauchery of the most disgraceful kind, brought him in the flower of age to the ditch which you see before you. Let this be an example to you and your children. Let us go hence!'

A Quaker who was so unfortunate as to have a law suit during the last term of court at New Lisbon has paid his attorney's fees by presenting him and each of his family with seven cent testaments! Sensible.

Men may loiter, but time flies on the wings of the wind, and all the great interests of life are speeding on with the sure and silent tread of destiny.
Medical men advise that salt should be taken with nuts, especially when eaten at night.

Dr. D. R. LYON, Medical Examiner. 249 1y

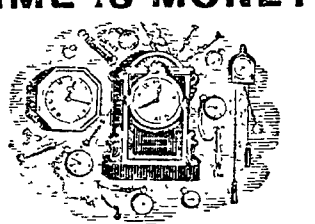

A MAN WITH A FAIRISH APETITE.
—A certain judge, famous for his love of good living, said to a friend one day:
'We have just been dining off superb turkey. It was excellent, stuffed with truffles to the throat, tender, delicate, filled with perfume! We left nothing but the bones!'
How many of you were there? asked the friend.
'Two,' replied the judge.
'Two,' echoed the other in astonishment.
'Yes, two,' said the judge, 'the turkey and myself.'

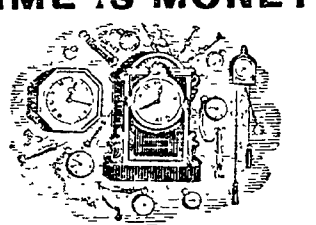

A letter intended for Oshkosh, Winnebago county, Wisconsin, was directed to Allsquash, Rutabaga county, and reached its destination.

ROBACK'S STOMACH BITTERS.
Some time ago, Dr. Roback, of Cincinnati, through his agent in this place, J. A. Maxwell, placed in our hands a bottle of his Stomach Bitters, designed for dyspepsia, to give tone to the stomach, as a preventive against the bilious complaints incident to the western country; and upon using it, we regard it as second to none in America or abroad. To be able to state confidently that the bitters are a certain cure for dyspepsia and like diseases, is to the proprietor a source of unalloyed pleasure. It removes all morbid matter from the stomach, purifies the blood, imparts renewed vitality to the nervous system, giving it that tone and energy so indispensable for the restoration of health. The numerous acknowledgments of its superior excellence and beneficent results have assured the proprietor that it cannot but prove a great cure to the afflicted, and impart vitality to the thorough system. We advise those who use bitters, to use none but Roback's which can be obtained at J. A. Maxwell's drug store, in Upper Sandusky.

WILD OATS—A crop that is generally sown between eighteen and twenty-five. The harvest sets in about ten years after, and is commonly found to consist of a broken constitution, two weak legs, a bad cough, and a large tank filled with vials and patent medicines. We can hardly say that the yield pays for the time and labor spent in the cultivation.

A guest at the St. James Hotel, in Cincinnati, having had restored to him by a lad his lost wallet, containing $6-500, dropped it into his pocket gracefully, buttoned his coat over it securely, and walked away dignifiedly without even a thank you.
